

Sinclair Broadcasting's instruction to all their stations to air "Stolen Honor" days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

When large companies control our public airwaves, they have a basic obligation to be even-handed. Showing "Stolen Honor" seriously violates that principle.

We need to strengthen media ownership rules. All companies, and particularly, the large ones, should be held strictly to the principles of fairness and objectivity. Our democracy is at stake.

Thank you.
